

Fig. 5-44. Composite cell map in which the Monte Carlo simulations have been applied to methane, ethane, and propane anomalies, highlighting the regions where all three of these gases are above their respective medians.